GHA sells all of the leading security technology and solutions to protect and bullet proof your data which is the life blood of any organization. GHA sales consultants will perform a proactive security review to help identify vulnerabilities in advance of security breaches.

GHA is at the forefront representing all of the leading security manufacturers to reduce risks associated with identity theft and to be Sarbanes Oxley and HIPAA compliant. We sell biometrics, intrusion detection, access control, perimeter monitoring and video surveillance, encryption, Wi Fi and wireless security, network scanning, license compliance, identity tags and badges, data safes and vaults, password management, equipment recovery and tracing, anti spam, virus, spyware, content filtering in compliance with the Internet Child Protection Act, and a variety of other security technologies and solutions.

GHA's line of security products also includes what your business needs in order to remain compliant with national laws and regulations. Without the proper precautions to secure, archive and protect certain types of data, you and your business can become liable in cases where negligence causes damage or loss.

The IronKey is the world's most secure USB flash drive, and it has been widely heralded in the press and by customers for its unique combination of security and performance.

The IronKey is provisioned at the factory with a 2,048 bit RSA Device Key which is used to authenticate the device and encrypt all communications between the server and the device. The key resides on the Cryptochip and is not accessible. This protects the IronKey against on-the-wire attacks or attempts to access/guess the device.

The device destroys all data after 10 incorrect password attempts.

IronKey's patent pending "self destruct" methodology incorporates an exhaustive hardware erase of all flash and Cryptochip memory. This is a secure overwriting of data done in a hardware application for the ultimate protection.

The IronKey is both waterproof and tamperproof and has been through rigorous durability testing.

The IronKey also comes with a secure browsing technology which uses a private network to establish a secure connection between the device and the internet.

GHA Vulnerability Assessment Services

IT security is a critical area that is many times neglected by companies until it is too late. Companies also feel that their IT security is sufficient without knowing the full security requirements. Don't be a company that suffers from the consequences; call GHA today for a vulnerability analysis.

GHA offers the most complete IT security services in the world. Everything from detailed security audits to post analysis and full solutions are offered in the GHA security package.

GHA covers the ten areas of IT security:

- Security Policy
- Security Organization
- Asset Classification and Control
- Personal Security
- Physical and Environmental Control
- Communications and Operations Management
- Access Control
- System Development and Maintenance
- Business Continuity Management
- Compliance

Businesses have long recognized the value of independent review of their security operations. All security review services result in an independent review of part of your entire security program but they differ in terms of scope and rigor.
